TRANSFORMERS III

CHANGING THE HEALTH SYSTEM FOR BETTER

SESSION 2

Monday 5 November 7pm - 9pm
Byron at Byron, Byron Bay

Economic Evaluation and Financing of Complex Intervention

$110 per registration

Enjoy a two-course dinner with Dr Apostolos Tsiachristas, an international expert in the payment and economic evaluation of integrated care. At the cutting-edge of health economic research, Dr Tsiachristas will guide you through the future of financing in Europe and how it relates to Australian context.

Dr Tsiachristas is involved in several research projects in collaboration with allied departments at Oxford University. His main research interests are related to complex interventions, with a particular focus on integrated care and mental health. He has varied experience working in experimental and observational studies in diverse clinical areas such as psychosis, self-harm, dementia, diabetes, cardiovascular disease and cancer.

Share experiences and ideas, discuss findings and synergies, and better understand financial incentives for integrated care.

ABOUT THE SCHOLARS

Dr Nick Goodwin

Co-Founder and CEO of the International Foundation for Integrated Care (IFIC)

Nick holds a range of research, educational and consultation roles worldwide. These international commitments include several European R&D projects such as the EU FP7 Project INTEGRATE, the Horizon 2020 project SUSTAIN and the ICT-PSP projects SMARTCARE, BEYOND SILOS, and CAREWELL. Nick is also an active member of the European Innovation Partnership on Active and Healthy Ageing B3 Action Group on Integrated Care.

Nick has worked with the Centre for Healthcare Knowledge & Innovation since 2016 and has been involved in a number of Centre events. Nick will return to Australia in April to deliver the Centre's International Summer School on Integrated Care. Email: coordinator@thecentrehki.com.au for details.

Nick has been working with the World Health Organisation to support the development of its Global Strategy on People-Centred Integrated Health Services and is on the Expert Advisory Team to WHO Regional Office for Europe's Framework for Action Towards Coordinated/Integrated Health Services Delivery (CIHSD). He is an internationally-renowned leader to change management and adoption of integrated care in policy and practice.

Viktorina Stein

Director Education & Training
Integrated Care Academy

Viktorina holds a PhD in health economics and in her work focuses on health systems and their organisation, specifically how to design contextualised integrated models of care and how to manage the change process towards such models. She previously worked with the WHO Regional Office for Europe, coordinating the development of the Framework for Action on Coordinated/Integrated Health Services Delivery.

Viktorina supports WHO Member States in reforming their health systems and she provides insights into the theory and practice, design, implementation and management of integrated care through her role as Director of Education and Training, Integrated Care Academy. Like Dr Nick Goodwin, Viktorina will return to Australia in April to facilitate the International Summer School on Integrated Care. Email: coordinator@thecentrehki.com.au for details.

ABOUT THE SCHOLARS

Apostolos Tsiachristas

Senior Researcher Health Economics
University of Oxford

Apostolos is a senior researcher at the Health Economics Research Centre (HERC), University of Oxford. His main research interests are related to the economic evaluation and financing of complex interventions, with a particular focus on integrated care and mental health care. Apostolos is involved in several research projects across a wide range of services for prevention, assessment, diagnosis and treatment.

Apostolos has been teaching health economics as part of undergraduate, postgraduate, and professional courses in Oxford and Rotterdam. His work is published in numerous international scientific journals and presented at prestigious conferences.

Michael Gendy

Chief Procurement Officer
NSW Health

Michael is a Senior Procurement & Supply Chain Executive with over 16 years' experience across procurement and supply chain functions, including direct, indirect, corporate and logistics spend. Working with global multinationals such as McDonald's and Nestle has provided Michael with a wealth of experience across regional & global strategic sourcing, including the strategy & development of a greenfield strategic procurement function. He is customer focused and fully appreciates the value and importance of stakeholder engagement and communication at all levels, particularly senior leadership. In his current role as Chief Procurement Officer for NSW Health, Michael is responsible for procurement across Australia's biggest Health cluster and one of the biggest Health budgets on a global scale.

CHANGING THE HEALTH SYSTEM FOR BETTER

ABOUT THE SCHOLARS

Andrew Pedrazzini OAM

Director HGEN Transformation
eHealth NSW

Andrew has recently completed overseeing $350 million of capital investment leading to the transformation of NSW Health's state-wide ICT infrastructure systems. He is currently developing the strategies, associated business cases and architectures for what will likely become the largest enterprise ICT infrastructure project in Australia. Technologies impacted through HGEN include cabling, networks, telecommunication infrastructure, unified communications, duress, nurse call, building management, patient entertainment, location and some clinical equipment.

Jane Grey & Catherine Turner

The Diabetes Alliance
HNELHD & PHN

The Diabetes Alliance project is a real life example of how integrating care can lead to a seamless, person centred approach that can be delivered in a flexible manner to benefit patients, clinicians and healthcare systems. The project was the winner of the Integrated Health Care award at the 2016 NSW Health Awards. The alliance has allowed for cross-organisational sharing of skills, knowledge and resources to develop a person centred model of care that is efficient, cost effective and sustainable.

Luke Arnold & Ally Dench

Wollondilly Alliance

The Wollondilly Health Alliance is a partnership between Wollondilly Shire Council, South Western Sydney Primary Health Network and South Western Sydney Local Health District, governed by various levels of commitment and responsibility. The Alliance actively addresses the ongoing health issues facing the Wollondilly community and partners with the community in the planning, development, implementation and evaluation of services.
